Course Evaluation Methods

This is a hybrid course. Student will complete part of the course in a traditional classroom setting and part of the course via online instruction.

Before you begin clocking hours for the experiential learning experience, please note the following:

- The instructor must approve your experiential learning site. The instructor must first approve your experiential learning site whether you want to work at an approved UNT Dallas site or a site that needs to complete the UNT Dallas Affiliation Agreement process. Any student who fails to obtain advanced written approval from the instructor must forfeit hours accumulated to the 100-hour requirement. To get approval, e-mail the instructor at william.garner@untdallas.edu under the subject PBHL 4390 Site Approval for First Name Last Name (e.g., subject PBHL 4390 Site Approval for John Doe).

- Your experiential learning opportunity must be in: (1) health services; (2) traditional public health; or (3) social policy.
- Your experiential learning hours must be completed in the same semester in which you enroll in PBHL 4390. Per policy, hours completed in previous semesters may not be used to meet the 100-hour requirement for PBHL 4390.
- Your experiential learning hours cannot be duplicated. Hours completed for another experiential learning requirement (social or academic) may not be used to meet the 100-hour requirement for PBHL 4390.
- Except in rare cases, hours cannot be completed with your current employer. Since the goals of experiential learning are to expand students' professional knowledge and professional network, experiences in new workplaces and with new people are required. For example, you can achieve these goals by being allowed to complete an administrative rotation in different areas, locations, settings within your current organization and for an extended period. However, you being asked to work at the same organization would not achieve these goals, generally.
- You must have a UNT Dallas Affiliation Agreement is on file with UNT Dallas.
 - If you choose to work at an approved UNT Dallas site (attached), you do not need to complete the UNT Affiliation Agreement (attached). Your next step is to contact the organization to learn more about what types of experiential learning opportunities are available and of interest. If you believe the opportunities qualify as (1) health services; (2) traditional public health; or (3) social policy, send the instructor information on the experiential learning opportunity and request approval. Once approved, you can start logging on or after the start of the fall semester.
 - If you choose to work on an unapproved UNT Dallas site, you must have the site/organization complete and sign the (attached) UNT Affiliation Agreement. First, send information about the experiential learning opportunity to the instructor and request approval. Next, get the site/organization to complete and sign the UNT Affiliation Agreement. Once the UNT Dallas Affiliation Agreement has been signed by your site/organization, you must e-mail the signed copy to Eronia King (Eronia.King@untdallas.edu). Please request notification once the agreement has been approved. Ms. King will get the required UNT Dallas signature and notify you once it has been approved. After receiving this notification, you must notify the instructor that it has been approved. Once approved, you can start logging on or after the start of the fall semester.
- Additional resources about experiential learning are available, including:

Traditional Classroom Instruction. This course meets every other week for face-to-face instruction. The topic of each class is provided in the Hybrid Course Outline section of the syllabus. Through the in-class discussions and other assessments, students are expected demonstrate mastery of assignment course content.

Online Instruction. Face-to-face meetings are supplemented by online instruction through weekly modules posted in Canvas. Each week's online instruction will begin at 12:00 (midnight) on Monday morning and ends at 11:59 p.m. on Sunday evening. Students should set aside approximately 3 hours each week to complete the module. The topic of each week's module is provided in the Course Schedule section of the syllabus. Through the modules, students are expected demonstrate mastery of assignment course content by passing reading quizzes, completing a learning application exercise, and posting "high quality" comments to discussion posts.

Field-Based Learning. Face-to-face meetings are supplemented by an experiential learning experience in public health. Students are required to complete 100 hours of experiential learning in public health through an off-campus internship.

Class Participation and Attendance. Regular attendance is expected of each student. Persistent absence will affect the students grade for class participation. Repeated unexcused absences and tardiness will affect the students grade significantly. Two tardies is the equivalent of one absence. Leaving class before the end of the period will be considered an absence. Whether excused or unexcused, the attendance grade will suffer due to absences and tardies. Students will lose 5 points per absence (or 2.5 points per tardy). After the eighth absence, student will receive a failing grade for the entire class and/or dropped from the course.

Use of Personal Technology. If not otherwise specified by the instructor, cell phones, laptops, I-Pads, Kindles, and other electronic devices MUST be switched off and placed out of sight during class. If it is visible to the instructor, s/he will receive a ZERO grade for participation on that day. The use of laptop computers in class is not allowed. Moreover, if the student need to leave the classroom during class, let the instructor know the reason for leaving; otherwise s/he will receive a ZERO grade for participation on that day. Anyone who is observed text messaging or using an electronic device during class will receive a ZERO grade for participation on that day as well. Additionally, students may not record lectures or take pictures in the class without special permission.

University Policies and Procedures

Students with Disabilities (ADA Compliance). The University of North Texas at Dallas makes reasonable academic accommodation for students with disabilities. Students seeking accommodations must first register with the Disability Services Office (DSO) to verify their eligibility. If a disability is verified, the DSO will provide the student with an accommodation letter to be delivered to the faculty to begin a private discussion regarding your specific needs in a course. You may request accommodations at any time; however, DSO notices of accommodation should be provided as early as possible in the semester to avoid any delay in implementation. Note that students must obtain a new letter of accommodation for every semester and must meet/communicate with each faculty member before implementation in each class. Students are strongly encouraged to deliver letters of accommodation during faculty office hours or by appointment. Faculty members have the authority to ask students to discuss such letters during their designated office hours to protect the privacy of the student. For additional information, see the Disability Services Office website at <http://www.untDallas.edu/disability>. You may also contact them by phone at 972-338-1777, by email at UNTDisability@untDallas.edu, or at by visiting Founders Hall Room 204.

However, offensive & inappropriate language (swearing) and remarks offensive to others of particular nationalities, ethnic groups, sexual preferences, religious groups, genders, or other ascribed statuses will not be tolerated. Disruptions, which violate the Code of Student Conduct, will be referred to the Office of Student Life, as the instructor deems appropriate.

Classroom Etiquette. Any student whose behavior disrupts the learning environment will be asked to leave the class. Any violation of classroom etiquette may result in a loss of points or removal from the course and referral to the Dean of Students, including warnings and other sanctions in accordance with the University's policies and procedures. Disruptions, which violate the Code of Student Conduct, will be referred to the Office of Student Life, as the instructor deems appropriate. Refer to the Student Code of Student Rights Responsibilities and Conduct at <http://www.untdallas.edu/osa/policies>.

Online "Netiquette": In any social interaction, certain rules of etiquette are expected and contribute to more enjoyable and productive communication. Emails, Discussion Board messages and/or any other forms of written communication in the online environment should use proper "netiquette" (i.e., no writing in all caps (usually denotes yelling), no curse words, and no "flaming" messages (angry, personal attacks). Racial, ethnic, or gender slurs will not be tolerated, nor will pornography of any kind. Any violation of online netiquette may result in a loss of points or removal from the course and referral to the Dean of Students, including warnings and other sanctions in accordance with the University's policies and procedures. Refer to the Student Code of Student Rights Responsibilities and Conduct at https://www.untdallas.edu/sites/default/files/page_level2/hds0041/pdf/7_001_student_code_of_conduct_may_2014.pdf. Respect is a given principle in all online communication. Therefore, please be sure to proofread all written communication prior to submission.

Certain behaviors are expected when communicating with both peers and instructors. The following netiquette guidelines are required for this course:

- Treat instructor with respect, even in e-mail or in any other online communication.

- Always use your professors' proper title: Dr. or Prof., or if you in doubt use Mr. or Ms.
- Unless specifically invited, do not refer to them by first name.
- Use clear and concise language.
- All communication should have correct spelling and grammar.
- Avoid slang terms and texting abbreviations (such as "u" instead of "you").
- Be cautious when using humor or sarcasm, as tone is sometimes lost in an email or discussion post, and your message might be taken seriously or offensive.
- Use standard fonts and avoid using caps lock feature as it can be interpreted as yelling.
- Limit and possibly avoid use of emoticons like 😊.
- Be careful with personal information

Discussion Board Netiquette.

- Make posts that are on topic and within the scope of course material.
- Take your posts seriously, review, and edit your posts before sending.
- Always give proper credit when referencing or quoting another source.
- Be sure to read all messages in a thread before replying.
- Do not repeat someone else's post without adding something of your own to it.
- Avoid short, generic replies such as "I agree", you should include why you agree or add to the discussion.
- When you disagree with someone, you should express your differing opinion in a respectful, non-critical way.
- Do not make personal or insulting remarks.
- Be open-minded.

E-mail Netiquette

- Use a descriptive subject line.
- Avoid attachments unless you are sure your recipients can open them.
- Avoid HTML in favor of plain text.
- Sign your message with your name and return e-mail address.

Student Evaluation of Teaching Effectiveness Policy. The Student Evaluation of Teaching Effectiveness (SETE) is a requirement for all organized classes at UNT. This short survey will be made available at the end of the semester, providing opportunity to comment on how this class is taught. I am very interested in the feedback I get from students, as I work to continually improve my teaching. I consider the SETE to be an important part of your participation in this class.

Assignment Policy. Assignments must be turned in on time. Late work is not accepted unless the instructor has approved it in advance in writing before the due date.

Extra Credit Policy. No extra credits will be awarded. Do not attempt to ask for extra credit, including individual extra credit at the end of semester to raise your grade. It is not fair to other students, and the professor does not look upon it favorably.

Exam Policy. Exams must be taken as scheduled. No make-up examinations will be allowed except for documented emergencies (See Student Handbook). Online exams may be proctored on campus per instructor's discretion.

Academic Integrity. Academic integrity is a hallmark of higher education. All students are expected to abide by the University's code of Academic Integrity policy. Any person suspected of academic dishonesty (i.e., cheating or plagiarism) will be handled in accordance with the University's policies and procedures. Refer to the Student Code of Academic Integrity at http://www.unt.edu/unt-dallas/policies/Chapter%2007%20Student%20Affairs,%20Education,%20and%20Funding/7.002%20Code%20of%20Academic Integrity.pdf for complete provisions of this code.

The University academic integrity policy is in effect for this course. Academic dishonesty includes, but not limited to, cheating, plagiarism (including self-plagiarism), improper collaboration, and/or the fabrication, falsification or alteration of information. Any act of academic dishonesty will be reported to the Dean of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the Dean of Students and may result in a grade of F on the assignment, removal from the course with a final grade of F, and any other sanction as deemed appropriate for the offense, including suspension or expulsion.

Please be aware in some online or hybrid courses; therefore, students may be required to submit written assignments to Turnitin, a web-based plagiarism detection service, or another method. If submitting to Turnitin, please remove the title page and other personal information.

Attendance and Participation Policy. The University attendance policy is in effect for this course. Class attendance and participation is expected because the class is designed as a shared learning experience and because essential information not in the textbook will be discussed in class. The dynamic and intensive nature of this course makes it impossible for students to make-up or to receive credit for missed classes. Students may not skip a week or plan to “catch-up” on previous week activities.

This course follows a structured, week-by-week format. Each week, students are expected to participate, electronically, on multiple occasions each and every week. Each week begins at 12:00 (midnight) on Monday morning and ends at 11:59 p.m. on Sunday evening. Students should spend a minimum of 6 hours per class each week to complete course activities. This time can be whenever it is convenient since all of the online classes are conducted in an asynchronous environment. This means there are no particular times set for responses and submissions but there will be weekly deadlines.

Students are responsible to notify the instructor if they are missing class and for what reason. Should a student need to miss scheduled class activities for any reason, it is expected that he/she inform the course instructor – by email – prior to the due date of the activity or assignment (only emergency situations will be exempt from this expectation). It is recommended that each student coordinate with a student colleague to obtain a copy of the class notes, if they are absent.

Attendance for this online or hybrid course is considered when logged in and active in Canvas, i.e., posting assignments, taking quizzes, or completing discussion boards. To maintain financial aid award eligibility, activity must occur before the census date of the session or term of the course. Refer to <http://www.untdallas.edu/registrar> for specific dates. If students are absent/not active in the course shell, it is the his/her responsibility to let the instructor know immediately, upon return, the reason for the absence if it is to be excused. All instructors must follow university policy 7.005 covering excused absences; however, it is the instructor’s discretion, as outlined in the course syllabus, of how unexcused absences may or may not count against successful completion of the course

Inclement Weather and Online Classes. Online classes may or may not be affected by campus closures due to inclement weather. Unless otherwise notified by your instructor via e-mail, online messaging, or online announcement, students should assume that assignments are due as scheduled.
